
Public Sector Economics

CALL FOR PAPERS

EXCHANGE RATE RELATED ISSUES

GUEST EDITOR: BALÁZS ÉGERT, OECD

Public Sector Economics is pleased to announce a call for papers for a special issue, to be published in December 2025, dedicated to exchange rate related issues. This special issue aims to bring together cutting-edge research that explores various dimensions of exchange rates and their implications for global and domestic economies.

We invite submissions that address, but are not limited to, the following topics:

- Exchange rate determination and forecasting;
- Impact of exchange rate fluctuations on trade and investment;
- Exchange rate regimes, monetary and fiscal policies;
- Exchange rates, public and private debt, and financial stability;
- Role of exchange rates in economic crises;
- Exchange rate pass-through to domestic prices and inflation;
- Currency markets and speculative attacks;
- Exchange rates and economic growth; convergence and Balasa-Samuelson effect;
- Effects of exchange rate volatility on emerging markets;
- Exchange rate misalignments and their economic consequences;
- Exchange rate interventions by central banks;
- Exchange rate fluctuations, FX reserves valuation, central bank profits and losses;
- Impact of digital currencies on exchange rates.

Submission of papers: 1 May 2025, on the submission page

Notification of peer review initiation: 15 May 2025

First reply to authors after peer review: 1 July 2025

Publication of accepted papers: 15 December 2025

Public Sector Economics is an academic journal indexed in Scopus, DOAJ, EconLit, RePEc, and other databases. Published quarterly by the Institute of Public Finance, the journal uses a double-blind peer review process, drawing referees from a wide pool of experts and follows the highest ethical standards. The journal ensures a quick turnaround time. The authors are requested to follow the submission instructions.

The Journal editor is Mihaela Bronić, Institute of Public Finance, Zagreb; co-editors are Dubravko Mihaljek, Institute of Public Finance and Croatian National Bank, and Katarina Ott, Institute of Public Finance, Zagreb.

For additional information, please contact pse-journal@ijf.hr